The screenshot shows the AOL Instant Messenger interface. At the top, the AOL logo and 'Instant Messenger' text are on the left, and a 'Welcome ScreenName' header with a 'ScreenName' field and a 'Sign-out' button is on the right. The main content area is titled 'Manage Linked Screen Names'. It features a button labeled 'Add a Screen Name' (pointed to by label 602) and a note: '* Note: Changes made to your linked screen names will take effect after you sign off and back on again.' Below this is a section titled 'Screen Names You've Linked' containing a table with two columns. The first column lists ScreenName1 through ScreenName4 (pointed to by labels 604a, 604b, 604c, and 604d respectively), each with an unchecked checkbox. The second column lists ScreenName5 through ScreenName8 (pointed to by labels 604e, 604f, 604g, and 604h respectively), each with an unchecked checkbox. At the bottom of the window is a button labeled 'Unlink Selected Screen Names' (pointed to by label 606).

This screenshot shows the same AOL Instant Messenger window, but with instructions for linking screen names. The 'Add a Screen Name' button is no longer present. Instead, there is a text area with the following text: 'You can link your AIM and AOL screen names so you can Instant Message from them at the same time. Simply enter the screen name and password you want to link and restart your AIM Client. You will then be able to send and receive instant messages from all the screen names you have linked.' Below this text are two input fields: 'Screen Name' (pointed to by label 608) and 'Password' (pointed to by label 610). At the bottom of the window are two buttons: 'Save' (pointed to by label 612) and 'Cancel' (pointed to by label 614).
